Introducing... Recurve Solutions Collaborative support for businesses on the grow!

Before we explain what Recurve Solutions is in the business of doing, let's learn about you.

You are a growing-to-medium-sized company. You sell anything from shelf-stable food products (think coffee beans, Tetra Pak beverages, cookies, etc.) to hardware (like home repair kits, window coverings or faucets, etc.), maybe even art supplies or cosmetics.

Your product sells via retail or wholesale -- online or brick and mortar stores -- or both!

Your vendors require that you prepare your products for sale in a particular format:

- Brick & mortar stores may want to showcase your product on pallet displays or floor stand displays, or maybe some kind of boxed variety pack.
- Online, you may find sales escalate when you offer subscription kits mixed with various pre-selected or customer-selected items.

So things are going great for your business. In fact, they start to go too well. You manage to keep up with production but that is taking up all of your time; you need to outsource retail assembly or need someone to facilitate the order picking, packing and fulfillment.

Four words light up in your brain: Recurve Solutions does that!

The concept of Recurve was born from Bullseye Packaging Services. Our Bullseye customers rely on us for our specialty work with the liquor industry, food & beverage industries and other CPG categories.

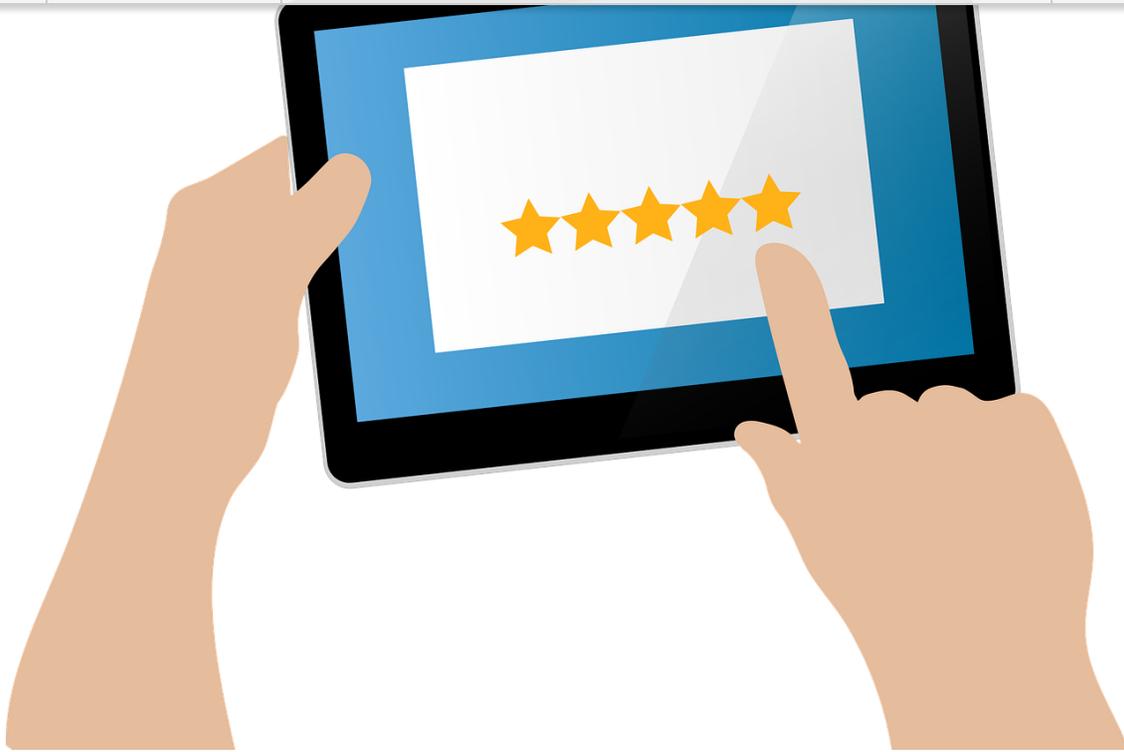

Last year, Bullseye identified a need in the Canadian market for customized assistance in projects that had outgrown a company's capabilities – that needed a trusted partner in furthering their growth. Recurve offers support in projects concerning more intricate details and/or lower volumes than we may typically work with at Bullseye.

Recurve wants to succeed together with you. The better we perform on your behalf, the more you grow, the more we succeed together.

Call Eira at Recurve Solutions today. Let's discuss what you have on the go and the kind of support you seek. We are about doing this together!

When

The Appreciation Survey

It's that time of year again!

Dear Wonderful Customers,

It's raffle time! The perfect time to make a connection with our clients and say THANK YOU! Without you, we wouldn't be here and it is always our goal to be your most dependable co-packer. One that you look forward to working with every day, no matter the project.

I'm sure by now you have noticed we have two brand new web sites. We have a fresh new look for Bullseye Packaging Services and another beautiful site for our new sister company, Recurve Solutions. And we continue to have the honour of adding more happy Customer Success Stories to both!

As part of our survey this year we're asking 2 simple questions, so it won't take up much of your time AND...

Honestly, who doesn't want a chance to win a FREE RAFFLE PRIZE BOX? (We've got some new swag in there, too, that we think you'll love!)

We will draw 3 lucky random winners from the pool of qualifying participants.

You have until midnight, August 31, 2022 so let's start now!
